NERDY LIBRARIANS ROCK WITH "READER'S BLOCK"

When staff from the Information Services department take their place behind the desk, one can only guess what the day will bring. Their job is to help people find information, and the topics are limitless. They have decided to take that daily exposure and research and share the more titillating discoveries via a new blog called "Reader's Block."

Located on the library's website, (www.dundeelibrary.info) the blog is updated daily and highlights cool stuff around the library, the web, and the community.

Lists, links, comments, experiences, and reviews are just a click away under categories such as "beer," "booklist," "dating," "deliciousness," "it ain't easy being green," "non-fiction," "pop culture," "self-help," and "what's your dewey number." Drill down further with links like "Awful Library Books," "BoingBoing: A Directory of Wonderful Things," "Cake Wrecks," and "National Public Radio."

So go ahead. Log on to "Reader's Block," click on your "Add to Favorites" and find out about stuff you didn't even know you wanted to know about.

LIBRARY WELCOMES NEW TREASURER

Algonquin resident Norman Raven was recently sworn in as the Dundee Township Public Library District's newest trustee. Raven will also serve as treasurer and takes the place of Mary White, who stepped down in February due to family reasons. He will complete the term for this position, which ends in April 2011.

Raven is retired from the medical supply industry, where he held various financial and management positions. He served in the Air Force ROTC for four years as an internal auditor, and has a B.S. degree in Business Administration and Accounting from Washington University in St. Louis.

He said that after a few years getting used to retirement, he decided it was time to give back to the community. "I'm a firm believer that your brain is no different than any other muscle. If you don't use it, you lose it. I am looking forward to utilizing my broad administrative background to serve as treasurer," said Raven.
